

FROM PETERSBURG TO APPOMATTOX

Lamkin's Battery of Artillery and How It Fought on Famous Retreat.

A GLIMPSE OF GENERAL LEE

Fight Near Farmville and Splendid Service of the Second Rockbridge Battery.

The Sunday Review of the retreat of Lamkin's Battery from near Fort Harrison on the north side of the James to Appomattox, is by Lieutenant Elihu T. Moxon, of the 1st Cavalry, company of artillery.

It is interesting to us soldiers, and particularly so in the second, if not the third, of the great battles fought on the morning of October 30th, when their commanding officer and their men

W. H. D. Lee, who had been sent out to fight, had 2000 men who had suffered last night in front of them and another 10000 men behind them. In the second General Moxon writes, "The 1st and 2nd Regiments were killed.
